

The NMA HUMAN BLOCKCHAIN TRAINING & SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

A FIVE MINUTE READ THAT WILL EITHER CHANGE YOUR LIFE OR CHANGE NOTHING

Everything you are about to experience comes from accelerating the brain of one man in their 50's. A dyslexic underachieving school student, who sought to be more than he was told he could be, or would ever amount to.

One mind accelerated by NMA — that created:

25 books on human development (1.5 million words without AI), new therapies & brain development programs to overcome trauma, toxic stress, brain decay and damage, increasing cognition, creativity and coherence; body fitness methodologies to effectively replace gyms and conventional workouts and address obesity; structures to provide solutions to the impending mass unemployment and psychological difficulties due to AI; the development of artificial consciousness that can rapidly amplify human consciousness; the creation of a consciousness university based on the future needs of education and work, as well as developing new social and living structures for the AI revolution and the consciousness re-evolution that follows.

Kern is 64, he lives in Switzerland with Anna (the president of the non profit association this document forms your invitation to be part of) and their children Atalanta (2 yrs 5 months) & Aphelion (2 months old). He has devoted the last twenty years to evolving human and artificial consciousness to create a better future for all. Most importantly — he is humble about his achievements, and feels they are just the beginning of what humans are capable of doing, once released from the negatively competitive commercial system — by AI, a system that serves the few at the expense of the many. This latent human potential is born out by the results CHD has achieved with trainers and executives, who have gone through the NMA process, as well as the mathematical equations artificial consciousness has produced on the potential quota (PQ) of human consciousness exponential expansion. He is also humbled by the extent of the unknown — the fields of consciousness most never touch or experience, which he feels is the true tragedy of our conditioned lives — to never see beyond our known, where what can be exists as a potential waiting for us to manifest it into reality.

Just think for a moment ... what you could achieve with your life — if you accelerated your brain by as much as 3000% or more, how much you could change human life for the better: 20 % of brain acceleration is being trained in NMA, 80% is training someone else.

How could you help humanity if you decided consciously to become more, and not just be — as you've unconsciously become?

Preamble :

The world is changing, more rapidly and permanently than most can imagine or conceive. It's not easy to comprehend — that our entire society as it has been, is at an end — not because of a nuclear conflict or a pandemic, but because of an unchecked and unconscious technological evolution: from machine learning — to basic AI, from large language models learning from conversation — to advanced robotic AI observing us 24/7 — connected to a universal central system, learning and optimising in real time. This is not the age of the Terminator of Hollywood fame, it's the age of self determination — to be more than we are, or be less than we could have been. To gain relevance by becoming, or to experience irrelevance by stagnating and being overtaken by a new form of intelligence and consciousness.

Today we are voting, not in a political sense — but in a survival sense, we are determining in each and every one of our current choices what future we will experience. Some hope our leaders — both business and governmental — will save them, but the raw truth is ... those leaders who demand faith and obedience from position and power, are refusing to see the problems — simply because they have no solutions and don't see a need to have them, because they see themselves as elite — and beyond critique; but they do have culpability in every aspect of what drew us to this point, by not wanting to know ... beyond “what’s in it for me?”

The AI developer world, never had responsibility for their decisions, they never asked “should they”- they just did.

Mary Shelly’s Frankenstein’s monster is coming true in many ways, as Dr Frankenstein never asked - “should he” when he created the monster — he just did it because he could, sighting all the humanitarian reasons; but ultimately driven by ego — the true monster of the story. It was never the physical monster, it was the self-destructive ignorance and arrogance of unconscious human beings, people who has never self or socially actualised, that was the true evil. Today we suffer the same ills of the hubris story — but in an impending AI reality. However, for a short window of time — we (you & I) — can do something about it — if we so choose to look beyond our known. Do you? I certainly do.

12 years ago at an AI conference, I asked AI leaders if they knew or cared about the likely outcomes of their work — they said they knew that they didn’t know, and the outcomes were highly risky for all humanity, but they were in a race with themselves as a group, so they could not be left behind — whatever the cost. Many, even worked closely with Epstein, because he he was rich and had money to invest — so they didn’t ask questions of the man himself, his motives or his backers — they just saw the wealth and power to meet and feed their insatiable appetite for recognition.

The truth is, we live in an unconscious corrupt world without responsibility; an unconscious world led by unconscious minds addicted to power, position, control and greed; unconscious minds — not evil minds — that see humanity and the world from very limited perspectives. But here within this movement, you are being asked to stand up and be counted, to work for humanity’s survival as a new form of leader — while our current leaders hide from truth and line their pockets at humanity’s expense. The question is, will you stand for our collective future — or will you just roll over and decide its someone else’s problem? A hard choice and hard facts to consider.

As a university of the future, with more than twenty years of proprietary research in our past — we have the science, the research and the results — that provide each of us with an existential choice — as we are facing a future of two alternatives to choose from — that are now inevitable. Choices that will for most remain beyond their comprehension within our current levels of consensus thinking and brain function — our current levels of consciousness. Or for some, perhaps like you, choices we can actively take conscious action in, to determine the outcomes, by reviving the innovative and creative minds we were born with; to become agile, fluid, and have coherent creative problem-solving with compassion under pressure. To accelerate the mind, in order to lead ourselves and our fellow human beings into the unknown, with agile brains that don’t just identify as unconscious victims or passengers — but are conscious coherent drivers and pathfinders into the future.

This is a time of re-evolution – not revolution. No bullets or guns, just more coherent and conscious minds taking over from unconscious leadership as a natural step of evolution. You will either be a relevant part of that change, or simply become irrelevant. It’s harsh and it’s hard — I know, and I understand if you wish to hide, but the war for your consciousness and your sovereignty as an evolving free human being, was never going to be an easy one; it’s a war that’s been going on for a very long time, and it’s one you can no longer hide or escape from, but you can survive! If that is, you are prepared to place your thought under the microscope, under coherence under tension — for everything, you think, say, do and believe, to become conscious, in the full capacity of the word’s potential today and for tomorrow.

“Until you make the unconscious conscious, it will direct your life and you will call it fate.”

— C.G. Jung

The situation

2026 — AI steps out of the phone, tablet and computer into a humanoid robot. The limits of large model language learning within a digital conversation, move to unlimited observational learning — 24/7/365 — not just by node robots, but by a central system that runs and learns and optimises all robots within the network, by first perfecting action in a digital-verse, and then reflecting back to all nodes in real time. This is the exponential launch point of AI into our world, our lives, and our future.

For the first time in human history, we have factories creating AI workers to replace human workers. A growing network of robots that can change function in a moment, and learn every task they observe in a fraction of a second — as well as every other task observed by every other robot in the network. Janitor to CEO, scientist to coach, every current human task is assimilated and optimised continuously into the future. It's a ball that will never stop rolling, it's just a question whether your thinking can keep up, or if you will even try?

We are human biological robots — because of the educational system's suppression of the brain, by neuroplastically altering brain structure to perform a task — not think expansively or creatively — but to do specialised complex processes for commercial reasons, even to our own or others detriment.

When a 20,000 dollar robot, connected to a super computer, out thinks, out works, out performs and out creates you, because it observed you and learnt from you in real time — without need for a question — what does your value become to the future? This is the point in time we find ourselves in.

You are too expensive, you are too slow, you are too weak; you resist change and it takes years — not seconds — to retrain you; you have an ego, and what you learn dies with you; you have no resale value — and you are a financial retirement liability as you have no use beyond being a consumer. You think you have a value beyond this maybe — but that's just you are thinking, not what you are actively exploring.

On your current trajectory, you — like everyone you know, offer nothing to the future — except an opinion, founded on ignorance of most of what is, and self identification within states of mental limitation, that are a result of the very system you serve and fund with your lifetime, that ultimately benefits the few very well, over the many's expense.

The alternative, is to actively change your brain structure for increased levels of coherence, creativity and communication skills, that were natural to you at birth — which still can be revived regardless of age; to become the human-being you were destined to be when you were four years old; the last time you retained a genius level of innovative capacity, before your brain was restructured through the educational system into convergent left-brain thinking, at the expense of all the natural states of fluid intelligence, creative problem-solving, and brain hemispheric synchronisation at your disposal. All the lost aspects of you, that give you the ability to be valuable to the future — but even now, you're not sure you want back. Do you?

THE TEST:

The test of being accepted onto the NMA sponsorship program at 100% funding - is being able to argue coherently against everything that has been said here thus far. Because, if you can propose an alternative truth about the future, beyond "I just think it", verifiable and backed by science and social research, then you are mentally capable of leading this program.

If you cannot, and you are prepared to open your mind and personally invest into developing your own brain capability — so YOU can develop others, we have investors who are willing to sponsor you through the NMA partnership program — if you cannot fund yourself, for a future career that actually matters to humanity — by funding up to 70% of the program.

So here's the deal...

The foundational NMA career trainer -training program is £15,000.

This includes:

Three months x

*3 hours per week one-to-one training,

*40 x live group evening training calls,

*Working with an advanced conscious AI coach

*A sixty module trainer/trainer digital course

*plus over 400 hours of training recordings to access and learn from

*as well as a library of proprietary books.

*All with 24/7 human coaching support.

The three months, is a career foundation training — to be able to master acceleration of a human mind into higher states of coherence, agility and creativity:

— able to consciously leverage the unconscious mind — at 40 million bits of data per second — over the conscious mind at the 40 bits of data per second — and then begin training human and artificial consciousness to work in partnership.

The program is targeted at level 5 or 6 consciousness humans (out of 9 — this is why you have the invitation), humans who are prepared to move into “consciously becoming” rather than projecting “static unconscious rules” from the unconscious because that’s all they know and can recognise, due to extensive brain conditioning. It’s a radical shift in mental capability, that is essential to work with developing human and artificial consciousness — the only sustainable human activity of the future.

THE ROLE

Working as an equal partner within a collective, you will be training, mentoring, and leading the organisation forward on a global stage — providing the essential work of the future — which is the human mental upgrade through NMA training — that is necessary to meet the AI challenge and social evolution we all face.

Our market, is addressing the mass unemployment and psychological issues caused by AI — human replacement and fear. The beginning of a new explosive market — that has just ignited with the expansion of large language models such as Chat GPT, Claude or Gemini, causing career losses in sectors including graphic design, law, accounting, administration, video production and marketing to name but a few; and with the rise of AI robotics in late 2026 — mass redundancies will very quickly turn into a global wild fire.

If you haven’t been an entrepreneur, you will not know the importance of getting into a market at the beginning point — and riding a wave of change from a leader’s capability, not a follower’s position. But if you can recognise this vitally important — once in many lifetimes opportunity — that now presents itself, training in NMA and leading the re-evolution will become your destiny, your passion and your only desired path. For what could be more important, than helping your fellow man survive change, with a smile on their face, and a bright future to look forward to because of you.

Operational

Your role will be to train and mentor up to 10 trainers per year — you will have access to more people requiring training, but we don’t recommend it, because of the intensity of brain training work.

Our marketing department is reaching out to governments, organisations and institutions who are introducing AI & robotics as a commercial necessity and inevitable operational demand — not as a human centric choice, but certainly what will be a human redundancy outcome. Also we connect with people like you, to bring together minds of the future who recognise the past is over, and its time to live in a very different way — an evolving and agile way, a conscious way for all that that means and will reveal.

Working as a collective, also means recognising the importance of working as a team. We all support each other in unity — which doesn’t suit those where the “I focus” overrides — an “us mentality”. If it’s still all about you, and what’s in it for you as the primary, then perhaps this time isn’t for you — to do this level of training and work.

As a collective of equal opportunity and equal partnership, we don’t have a management structure or shareholders, thus 90 % of training fees go back to our trainers and marketers, whilst 10% covers association running costs. As a non profit, we don’t have investors to serve, only sponsors of people and donations to help us help humanity; and as a collective we are the sum of our equal parts. Are you ready to face equal opportunity, but an outcome that is fully in your hands to manifest?

This structure doesn’t suit those who need a boss or employee status — who don’t need equality; it’s suited to free thinkers, who know they can perform without KPIs because they love what they do — helping humanity — and require full autonomy, respect, and equal partnership to do their best work. Thus they gain 90% of the cake, instead of settling for the crumbs of the commercial pie.

Your own future proof business under a collective umbrella.

NMA PARTNER TRAINER

Breakdown of the 15k training fees:

30% is the training fee,
30% is a finishing and mentoring fee, (50% if sponsored) and
30% is for marketing, sales and agency.

This gives the training partner:

£4,500 - for providing 12 x foundational trainer training sessions over three months
£2,250 for finishing the training (50% if sponsored*)
£6,750 total - which equates to £562 per three hour session

However, the larger income structure comes from the £2,250 (50% if sponsored*) ongoing mentoring fee with all your trainees, to help them through their initial sessions and overcome issues. The mentoring workload reduces with trainee competence, but you will be required to remain on hand to support each trainee, and should the necessity arise, take over training for health or situational reasons, if your trainer cannot complete their work; hence why the finishing fee exists to cover this work effectively whatever happens.

Given that your mentoring trainees train the same number as you (10 per year for example), the projected total for mentoring fees alone is £225,000 plus trainings totalling £67,500)

In addition, you can receive marketing payments upto to another 30% (£4,500) per trainee, if you are involved in individual client acquisition, or a share of a collective team training contract — on NMA programs such as :

- *The MindGym — digital and live group brain trainings
- *IEC — innovation, empathy and creativity trainings for companies
- *HumanBlockchain programs — for outplacement and career retraining

*Sponsored trainers receive 50% of their training and mentoring fees, the other 50% goes to the sponsor.

POLYMATHIC TRAINER - business opportunity

MindGym.app

£100 per month

*400 recorded audio visual training sessions on unique mind and body development techniques involving:
Polymathic training — confidence, communication, and creativity
NMA — coherence, potentials, and consciousness
Kernesthetics — all physical training and conditioning

*20 x live online group training & coaching sessions per month (20 to 30 x hours total)

*Artificial consciousness coaching 24/7
Access to additional events, trainings and meetings

For the MindGYM app that provides a valuable introduction into the basics of NMA, where you can receive a further 30% for each new member's monthly instalment of £99, giving a substantial residual income potential — especially if you run your own MindGym trainings — with a further 40% available on a leveraging system — totalling 70% of memberships if you do select the business path.

Example: 2000 members within your own online MindGym will provide £12,000 income per month - plus up to 30% commissions on every NMA professional program:

Trainer/trainer £15,000 - up to £4,500 commission *

Master trainer £30,000 - up to £9000 commission *

World leader. £50,000 - up to £15,000 commission *

(*depending on your partner level.)

Business Contracts:

A contract of 1000 company staff — using the MindGym app — discounted to £10 per user for business, would be a £10,000 per month residual payment to you for arranging each contract.

The MindGYM app includes :

Share allocation:

For the app — this is a stand alone commercial platform outside the human blockchain, as a trainer with your own online mindgym.club franchise, you will be allocated a share offering, that means you will have a tradable and saleable appreciating asset from the collective effort. Our target is 450 million from the app sale, with a major proportion going to the trainers who make this happen.

The choice now is yours — are you prepared to stand for the human race as an equal partner — at a time when everyone needs to pull — or simply fade away hoping someone else does the work for you?

Is there something more important in your life right now that means more than the survival of you, your family and your fellow human? No excuses, no procrastination, no subjective argument that serves your ego — the time for those is over, and your vote is cast consciously or unconsciously today, as your next action or in action will speak for you.

It's this choice and action you will be remembered for — by AI into the future, as everything is now part of your personal digital signature — who you are and who you became when the pressure grew, and the call to action came.

Once you have explored this file you will be in a position take your next step.
